

Vivat Caesar!

Centurion Maximus Londinium here. I am the host of the new show at the amphitheatre 'Requiscat in Pace' and I need some scriptwriters to help me out.

Your task is to write a short speech / piece of dialogue / poem / paragraph to explain how the Romans were able to keep their army healthy. No more than 150 words and make sure you get some jokes in otherwise we'll feed you to the lions!

You must include information about:

The size of the Empire and why the Romans needed to improve public health

The connections between dirt and disease

Water supplies

Surgery
